Which Venue is You?

Ambiance of a Bygone Era

There's something romantic about the past, and several of the area's historic venues make the perfect location. From the Powel Crosley Estate, to Roser Memorial Church on Anna Maria Island, to Heritage Chapel at Palmetto Historical Park, the area is filled with options.

Toes in the Sand

If walking down the aisle on a breathtaking beach is your dream, here's where you can easily make it happen. Anna Maria Island and its sister isle, Longboat Key, offer miles of uninterrupted shoreline, providing a shimmering backdrop of powder-white sand and turquoise water.

Offbeat & Romantic

Hoping for a location as unique as your own personality? Something your guests will push viral in seconds? From rustic beach-side cottages, to a historic southern plantation, to an elegant waterfront estate, the area offers several innovative locations guaranteed to make lasting memories.

Elegant & Organized

When every detail has to be perfect and you're looking to impress beyond compare, several area locations rise to the occasion. The area offers a superb collection of hotels and resorts, posh country clubs and dedicated event facilities offering elegance, style and true sophistication.

From the Extraordinary to Out-of-the-Ordinary

The area offers a variety of houses of worship, hotels, resorts and event facilities that ensure your event goes off without a hitch. But it also offers a broad array of unusual and dramatic locations for your vows and celebration. Here's just a small sample:

Powel Crosley Estate

Rising majestically on 17 acres on sparkling Sarasota Bay, this two-story 1929 Mediterranean-revival mansion on the national register of historic places offers an unprecedented setting for 50 to 250.

Love Blossoms among the Orange Groves

Area citrus producer, Mixon Fruit Farms, offers four separate, unique facilities on their lush, tropical grounds for the perfect Florida setting. From intimate gazebos, garden pond locations, to a full reception hall and more for parties up to 200.

A True Southern Charmer

The only surviving antebellum mansion in South Florida, the historic Gamble Plantation offers a backdrop right out of Gone With The Wind. Ceremonies take place on the porch or under the gazebo just outside the mansion. The plantation's picnic pavilion also turns into a dance floor for that sunset wedding waltz.

The Ambiance of Spanish Colonial Florida

The Bishop Museum of Science and Nature's replica 16th century chapel and dramatic architecture of its adjacent, open-air Spanish Plaza offer a setting of picturesque columns and arches, ornate wrought-iron gates, chandeliers and lamp posts, and a beautiful fountain with an equestrian statue of Hernando de Soto.

Take your Vows among the Vines

What could be more intoxicating than your wedding and reception at one of the area's vineyards and wineries? An eco-friendly, environmentally sensitive venue can be found at the area's Bunker Hill winery, while Fiorelli Winery lends an Italian touch with a pavilion that hosts up to 150.

Roser Memorial Community Church

Built in 1913, Anna Maria Island's first house of worship, Roser provides a formal church wedding location and a rich history among the island's casual, beachside charm. The church was built by one of the area's original settlers and the inventor of the Fig Newton, Charles Roser, in memory of his mother.

Intimate and Historic Heritage Chapel

Step back in time to the quaint charms of Palmetto's historic Heritage Chapel, a composite of the town's original three churches, which were all located within one block of the site. Located within Palmetto Historic Park, the setting offers seating for up to 150.

Walk the Aisle on an Isle

Anna Maria Island's Sandbar Restaurant is one of many island venues offering all you need for the perfect toes-in-sand, heads-in-the-clouds experience. White-sand beach and gorgeous sunsets provide the backdrop for your covered or open-air ceremony. From weddings to receptions, the Sandbar makes it easy.

Bakers Ranch

Nestled amid the majestic oaks of Parrish, Florida, rests a beautiful retreat brimming with rustic elegance and inspired by 16th century Tudor-style architecture. Its elegant simplicity and country charm allows for a wide variety of stylized wedding ceremonies and wedding reception backdrops.

Take a planning trip - What better way to be sure every moment is perfect. A quick trip to the area lets you check out vendors and put your eyes on everything in advance – and it can be a fun mini-vacay!

Keep it legal - Whether you get your marriage license at home or here, remember to get it done. If you're handling it here, you can get ahead of the process online at: ManateeClerk.com/Services
